

After The Storm

© 2020 Will Stanley

It was the worst year of my life
I hate to recall what it was like
Had no friends to hang out with
It felt like the apocalypse
But now it's time
For a new script

Read every book, that came into my hands
Watched every show I couldn't stand
Did push ups till my arms gave out
Birthdays passed without a shout out
I'm ready now
To put an end to this drought

It's time to jump for joy,
And be a happy girl or boy
We're so damn glad we weathered the storm
Sing a song, dance a jig
Grab a bottle, take a swig
It feels like we were just born
After the storm

Life has a way, of throwing us curves
Surprises we don't think that we deserve
We do our best to accept the pain
But all our efforts seem to be in vain
Cuz it's quite clear change drives us insane.

So let's just jump for joy
Like a happy girl or boy
And just be glad we weathered the storm
Sing along, and dance a jig
Pretend that life is one big shindig
This is not the time to mope and mourn
After the storm

We always think our road should be smooth
Any bump, and we've been screwed
But I'm afraid that's not how it works
Every tale has got its quirks and perks

Now it's time to jump for joy,
And be a happy girl or boy
We're so damn glad we weathered the storm
Sing a song, dance a jig
Grab a bottle, take a swig
It feels just like we've been reborn, after the storm
