

Don't You Dare

© 2010 Will Stanley

You may think I'm not too swift
And I haven't a clue
Cuz I don't act too miffed
No matter what you do
But that's not the way things are
I'm not as dumb as you think
Still I'm prepared to let you off with a nod and a wink.

Don't you dare, say you're leaving
I can't bear, the very thought
I'm aware you've been deceiving
But I promise you I won't squawk

You know I can't live alone
I'm not an island for sure
You may be a rolling stone
But that's not what I signed on for
When you and I tied the knot
We said it was till death do us part
And I meant every word with all my heart.

So don't you dare, say you're leaving
I can't bear, the very thought
I'm aware you've been deceiving
And I'll be fine if you just stop

Remember back when love was new and oh so wild
You couldn't keep your hands off me
But now it seems that lovin' me is a trial
But I still love you can't you see.

So don't you dare, say you're leaving
I'm prepared to banish the thought
That I'm aware you've been deceiving
And I'll pretend you ain't been caught

So don't you dare, say you're leaving
I'll say a prayer, and not act distraught
I'm aware you've been deceiving
But I'll pretend it's all a crock.

So don't you dare....(repeat and fade)
