

Let's Not Make Love

© 2013 Will Stanley

I came to this bar, cuz I was lonely
And lookin' for someone to talk to
And there you were, lookin' sweet as apple pie
And I couldn't resist, walkin' up to you

We've been chattin', and laughin'
For hours on end, and now it's time
For our bartender to announce that it's last call
Cuz soon it'll be closing time.

And I sense your desire, and you sense my fire
And I know how this usually ends
So I pray to God in the heavens above
That you'll understand, when I say
Let's not make love.

Even though there's no ring on my finger
My love for her runs deep
She was everything I could ever need
And when she left, there was no bottom to my grief

I've spent three long years in isolation
Tryin' to get over the pain
And this is my first time, out on the town
And I never dreamed I'd find love again.

And though I sense your desire, and you sense my fire
And we both know how this is supposed to end
I pray to God in the heavens above
That you'll understand, when I say
Let's not make love.

Even though it would seem so natural
To head off together into the night
Emotionally, I'm not ready yet today
I've got to know the time's just right, before being swept away.

Instrumental

And so despite your desire, and my smoldering fire
And all the songs that predict how this will end
I pray to God in the heavens above
That you'll understand, when I say
Let's not make love.
