

Let's Make A Start

© 2014 Will Stanley

We sit on the couch, two bumps on a log
Watching so-called reality, or reading a blog
Sometimes it seems that we've forgotten what couple means
Have we really given up all our dreams

Then I think back how it all began
When the whole world was our wonderland
How can we get back that loving spark
That I know is hidden deep down in our hearts.
Let's make a start.

Getting into a rut, is easy to do
But I never thought, it'd happen to me and you.
People always said that we had something unique
Now we hardly ever even speak.

Yes, I know exactly how it all began
The whole world was our wonderland
I'm sure we can still get back that loving spark
We've just got to dig into our hearts
And make a start.

We've stayed together, cuz the love's still there
All we've got to do, is let it out to breathe the air.

Take my hand and look deep into my eyes
It's long since time we realized

We can recreate how it all began
Let's make the world our wonderland
I know that I still feel that loving spark
And I'm hoping you do too deep in your heart.
So let's make a start.