

One Kiss At A Time

© 2009 Will Stanley

People keep asking us, why hesitate
If our love is really real, why not set the date
We tell them not to worry, we're takin' it one kiss at a time

Passion can make new lovebirds, be in a rush
But often it ends up being, nothing more than a crush
That's why we don't hurry, we take it one kiss at a time.

We both share the same goal, of making it last
And that means the opposite of doing it fast
We bask in each other's arms, ignoring those fire alarms
If it takes our whole lives that's fine with us.

So don't be surprised, when we don't act rash
Our love is a walk in the park, not a mad dash
We don't need to scurry, cuz we take it one kiss at a time.

Love should be more than just, a passing craze
We want it to live longer, than a few frantic days,
So we let it develop, like a fine wine
That won't be uncorked, before its time.

So you can call us cowards, or commitment-phobes
But when the time is right, we'll certainly know
We'll begin our lovin' journey, by taking it one kiss...
We'll won't need to hurry, we'll take it one kiss...
We never worry, cuz we take it one kiss at a time.
We take it one kiss at a time.
