

Plausible Deniability

© 2009 Will Stanley

When I go out on a limb, or it's sink or swim
I always try to cover my behind
I can't risk being exposed, as the only guy who knows
Just how we got into this bind.

So what I need is an alibi, when something goes awry
And I want to make damn sure, they can't blame me
I spose I could take the heat, but I think it's rather neat
To use plausible deniability.

There are lots of other guys, who can take the fall
Why, I can hardly name them all
I don't see why they need me to bleed
Why should I buy into my downfall?

So when everything goes south, I don't get down in the mouth
Cuz I've got plausible deniability.

I don't consider it weak to protect my cheeks
It's self-preservation, you see
And you would do the same, if you were to blame
For causing a catastrophe

So when push comes to shove, I don't pray to God above
I stay with plausible deniability
Plausible deniability
I use plausible deniability.
