

We're Through

© Will Stanley 2018

We're through, nothin' left of me and you
The end, even if you make amends
Don't try to tell me not to fret
That there's time for a total reset
I know it's not true
Cuz we're through

Vamoose, you played your game too fast and loose
Hypocrite, you couldn't tell just when to quit
Don't go acting like you're surprised
Or that you never ever realized
Your attitude made me blue
Now we're through

I'm walking out the door
And now you like me more
But I could care less
I've had it up to here
Let me make it clear
I can't stand the stress.

It's all yours, I'm heading for the dollar store
I'll replace, everything except your face
Possessions don't impress me anyway
I'm sure you'll miss that second payday
Don't start that boo-hoo
Cuz we're through

I'm walking out the door
And now you like me more
But I couldn't care less
I waited way too long
To sing this siren song
To a stuckup princess.

Have fun, I hope you find another one
Slightly dumb, and comfortable beneath your thumb
I thought you knew what love was like
Foolish me, that was not too bright
Now you're in my rear view
Cuz we're through.
